The Death and Life of Environmentalism

Total Award: $100,000 over 1 year

Presidential Authority Grant

In support of "The Death and Life of Environmentalism," a special report of the American Prospect magazine. This special report will be a supplement to the monthly magazine, and be distributed in time for the 2005 Environmental Grantmakers Association (EGA) meeting, marking a year since the release of the provocative "The Death of Environmentalism" essay. For the 24-page supplement, American Prospect will assemble ten authors from various viewpoints, institutional affiliations, and political styles, including but not limited to environmentalists. The authors not only will address the issues raised in the original essay about the environmental movement, but also how these issues parallel many of the dilemmas facing social justice proponents generally. In addition to the publication of the report, the Prospect aims to organize a companion conference, hopefully in conjunction with the EGA meeting, which will further the debate and possible solutions.
